What is it?

The SciX India Hackathon is organised by SciAstra Labs, with CiiA as Innovation Partner, and runs entirely on SciX, a community app for students, researchers, faculty and industry people in STEM.

There are no fixed problem statements. You pick a category, bring your own idea, and build it out over two rounds. Up to 5 teams go on to exhibit at CiiA-6, a national science exhibition at Nehru Science Centre, Mumbai.

Who can join?

Any STEAM student
From any college or university in India: B.Tech, B.Sc, BS-MS, M.Sc, M.Tech and more.

Solo or in a team
1 to 4 members. Teammates can be from different colleges.

Already building something?
You can submit a project you're already working on.

The two rounds

ROUND 1 — Online

Idea submission

- Choose one of the 4 categories
- Submit a 6–8 slide deck: the problem, your solution, why it matters and how you'd build it
- Top 10% of submissions are shortlisted

ROUND 2 — Online

Prototype submission

- Build a working prototype of your idea
- Submit one document (PDF/PPT) and a 3–5 minute video explaining it
- Hardware projects get preference

Every submission is scored by two judges. The hackathon is fully online until the CiiA-6 exhibition.
